PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Barbara is currently in her fifth year as Professor of Professional Practice at the Bloustein School, Rutgers University, New Jersey, USA. She is a designer of award-winning projects including: Centennial Olympic Park, Atlanta; Parc Diagonal Mar, Barcelona, Spain; Carter Presidential Center, Atlanta; Celebration, Florida; Schuylkill River Master Plan, Philadelphia; Miami Downtown Vision Plan, Miami; Wharf District Park of the Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy Greenway over the US$15B "Big Dig" Boston; Porta Nuova, Milan, Italy; East Edisto master plan for 70,000 acres near Charleston, South Carolina; and the Atlanta BeltLine. She worked as a public sector planner and designer for the Department of Planning, Alexandria, Virginia and the Department of Parks & Recreation, Atlanta, Georgia. She has projects in the European Union, Latin America, Australia, and Korea.

Over her 35-year career, Barbara has helped elevate the position, scope and profile of landscape architecture, city planning and urban design on the global stage, while serving as a mentor to young professionals. Barbara joined EDAW (now AECOM) in 1980. She chaired EDAW's board of directors from 1996 to 2005 and later served as AECOM executive vice president, Planning, Design + Development, North America. Barbara was named one of ten AECOM Fellows in 2011.

Barbara has conducted hundreds of public meetings, served as a board member, and chaired several environmental, professional, and retail/development associations. She speaks in the United States, Europe, Australia, and South America on urban issues for professional associations, public agencies, and universities. She has directed complex teams on large, time-sensitive, and award-winning projects including housing and community development plans, downtown revitalization, waterfront development, and parks.

Her book, Designing Public Consensus: The Civic Theater of Community Participation for Architects, Landscape Architects, Planners and Urban Designers (Wiley, 2006) is used by practitioners, professors and students. She co-edited Planning Atlanta in 2014 with Harley F. Etienne and has contributed chapters to several planning books. She received a distinguished alumni award in landscape architecture from Michigan State University. Design Intelligence named her one of the top 15 women who are changing the world of architecture
